Council of Leading Military Men Warned Against Perils of Joining.

The principal argument put forward by the "advocates" of the league is by the "advocates" of the league is this: "It is true it is bad for Switzer-land to join this league; it is humiliating; our independence and economic life are being jeopardized, but we might as well join, for should we stay out our fatter will be worse. So let's go in and try to improve matters in the course of to improve matters in the course of time. At any rate, we may get out again after giving two years' notice."

No War Immunity.

All the papers, whether in favor of the league or against it, admit that Switzerland will have to surrender her neutrality if she joins. Neutrality and membership in the league exclude one another. It has been agreed in Paris, in alleged conversations but not on paper, that Switzerland would not be called upon to take part in a war of execution in a military sense, but she will smash the fetters that are to enchain a people that heretofore was the freest in Europe. And the same prayers are said in Holland, in Denmark, in Norway and in Sweden. All these peoples are appealing to the American nation, asking the strongest democracy to save the weaker ones.

Government Surrenders.

In Switzerland tremendous pressure has been exerted in order to bring about submission. When the covenant was first published there was practical unanimity in condemnation. The friends of a real league were shocked. The press was stunned. Members of the Government were dumbfounded. Then the ecrews were set. They were tightened from time to time. The Governcumstances. The Legislature will have to decide rext, and then the question will be submitted to the people as a whole.

The Swiss Government is cowed. There is no doubt about it. It, declared in favor of the league, but its sincerity is being doubted. Some people say the Government did not dare to oppose the scheme, but hopes the people will kill it. Some pertinent questions are being asked in the newspapers, in mass meetings and at political conventions. The people want to know whether their representatives were coerced by outside influences. Of course the Government will not tell them. There is one thing as certain as death:
If the American Senate smashes the league there will be bonfires on every mountain peak of the Alps and a magnificent majority of Swiss citizens will

New Silks From France Black Taffeta Black Satin

Priced Lower Now Than Later

While these splendid Black Silks from a famous Lyons maker are the first of our Fall imports to arrive from France, they are also the last to come over at earlier lower prices; so they are well worth buying by women with Fall dressmaking plans on their minds.

The silks, as is usual with this maker's fine goods, are of high quality, of perfect dye and lustrous finish.
